Time: 6.00-7.30 pm

Venue: Holland House Rue d’ Arlon 20, Brussels, 1st floor

Rsvp before November 4, 2023

About the Speaker:

Bart Vanderhaegen is a management consultant, with strong interests in physics, epistemology and economics. He is also a podcaster and public speaker.

Explanation of the topic:

Austrian Economics has gradually decreased in importance over the years, in favor of other economic schools of thought (Keynesian School, Chicago School, ...). This happened despite its strong explanatory and predictive power (e.g. the explanation of what inflation really is and how it causes boom bust cycles in the economy, or the successful predictions ahead of the 2001 dot-com bubble; the 2008 financial crisis, ...). The speaker will go through the main concepts and argue how Austrian Economics, compared to alternative theories, provides the best explanations for economic phenomena.
